

Hill Country Film Festival and Fritztown Cinema to Screen Feature Documentary Film IMBA MEANS SING

Monthly Series Features Free Screening of Independent Film

AUSTIN, Texas (June 19, 2018) – The Hill Country Film Society, a non-profit organization committed to providing year-round independent film programming and education in the Texas Hill Country and host of the annual Hill Country Film Festival in Fredericksburg, Texas, on April 25 - 28, 2019, has partnered with Fritztown Cinema to host a screening of the feature documentary film IMBA MEANS SING (d. Danielle Bernstein, U.S.) as part of its “indie film series” in Fredericksburg.

WHAT: IMBA MEANS SING is a heartfelt story of resilience and the impact of education. The film follows Angel, Moses and Nina from the slums of Kampala, Uganda, through a world tour with the Grammy-nominated African Children’s Choir. Stunningly shot and told through the children’s perspectives, the audience experiences their one shot journey from poverty to education. Their story is an intimate look at the inner workings of the African Children’s Choir and how each child processes the joys and challenges of their life-changing opportunity.

On the Tuesday following the screening, the African Children’s Choir will be performing at Holy Ghost Lutheran Church in Fredericksburg at 7p.m. For more information on the choir and live performance, visit: <https://africanchildrenschoir.com/the-choir/shows/>.

Information on upcoming indie screenings at Fritztown Cinema can be found on HCFF Event page at: <http://www.hillcountryff.com/home/events/>.

WHEN: Sunday, July 1, at 5:30 p.m.

WHERE: Fritztown Cinema, 2254 Highway 87 South, Fredericksburg, Texas.

COST: Free; donations will be accepted benefiting the Hill Country Film Society and Fritztown Cinema. Seating will be first come, first serve. Doors will open at 5:15 p.m.

About Hill Country Film Society

The Hill Country Film Festival, created in 2010 to celebrate and showcase filmmakers from Texas and around the world, quickly evolved into a non-profit organization with a broader vision. The Hill Country Film Society not only hosts the annual festival, but provides year-round independent film programming in the Texas Hill Country as well as education in the art of independent film. Its mission is to encourage discovery through visual storytelling and create experiences that educate, inspire and engage. The society relies on its sponsors and members to help achieve its mission and ensure the future of film as part of a vibrant, creative culture.
